Fab Lat Kids

Is an initiative of the Latin American Fab Labs network (Fab Lat) that generates and promotes projects based on technology and digital fabrication as tools for the educational and social development.

In collaboration with experts from different sectors -such as educators, designers, engineers, psychologists, pedagogues and enthusiasts- we celebrate and enhance the value of multiculturalism through technology.

We share personal responsibility through MAKE to bring the emerging generation of leaders closer to collective, highly human and shared values.

GKD 20 | Ngoma

The Fab Lat Kids Network promote "Global Kids Day", a day of interactive online workshops dedicated to children, which will take place simultaneously on a Kids Day in various countries around the world.

Kids will be able to create the same object and share it with other little makers around the world.

This activity will allow children not only to develop specific skills, but also to train skills transversal, useful to stimulate the cognitive processes and awaken their creativity, motivating them to work as a real team.

Every year Global Kids focuses to spread and exchange knowledge of different world traditions and cultures.

In 2019 it provided a fusion between the ancient Japanese culture and digital production. This year the focus will be on Africa and we will celebrate the International Day of African Child creating a DIY Typical African Drum and Mask.
